The 30 journalists, around Jean-Christophe Dumont, Head of the Division of International Migration, OECD and Stefano Scarpetta, Director of the Directorate for Employment, Labour and Social Affairs, OECD to decrypting embargoed "International Migration Outlook" to be presented by the Secretary General of the OECD Angel Gurría, the United Nations, during the high-level meeting to address the mass movements of refugees and migrants and the leaders Summit on refugees Monday and Tuesday 19/20 September. The embargo will be lifted Monday, September 19 at 11:00. According to the OECD work, migration can be an economic opportunity for the host country, while public opinions often perceive as a threat, particularly when it comes to refugees. Overcoming this fear and dissension that migration sometimes cause requires an objective analysis of reality ingrained in our lives - more than 4 million new migrants settle each year in OECD countries - and the situation of immigrants the labor market in the host country. The "International Migration Outlook" provide recommendations to help governments make the most of this migration. Source OECD, Press Conference
